LEGAL CONFERENCE COMMON LAW IN EUROPE

WELCOME NOTE

Dr. Christos Clerides

President of the Cyprus Bar Association

On behalf of the Cyprus Bar Association, I welcome you to this very first, after Covid-19, live Conference co-organized by the Cyprus Bar Association and the General Council of the Bar 16,17 June 2022 Limassol, Cyprus.

The Conference is of particular importance in that it concentrates on the very important subject after Brexit of the Common Law in Europe. It touches upon practical legal problems and is also forward looking into new technology developments in the digital economy.

The Conference provides an opportunity to Members of the Cyprus Bar, representatives of the Bar of Ireland, the Bar of England, and Wales as well Solicitors of England and Wales and Advocates of Scotland, to get together and exchange legal views but more importantly to meet so as to strengthen the relationship between our professional bodies and members.

I am indeed looking forward in the future to a Conference that will expand into other important Common Law countries as well across the world in Africa, Australia, New Zealand the Caribbean and Canada.

We have a common legal tradition to share especially now that Cyprus and the Republic of Ireland are the only common law jurisdictions to be part of the European Union.

I wish you all successful deliberations and a great time here in Cyprus.

Dr. Christos Clerides

President of the Cyprus Bar Association

WELCOME NOTE

H.E. Stephen Lillie CMG

British High Commissioner to Cyprus

I welcome this event which highlights the importance of the Common Law within Europe. The Common Law is an essential element of the legal systems of several European countries, including the UK and Cyprus, and a vital connection between those countries and other common law jurisdictions globally. It is regarded by many as the most business-friendly legal system in the world. As such it facilitates collaboration between us and enhances our international competitiveness. This conference will be an excellent opportunity for practitioners to come together and engage with the newest legal developments in the field.

H.E. Stephen Lillie CMG

British High Commissioner to Cyprus

LEGAL CONFERENCE COMMON LAW IN EUROPE

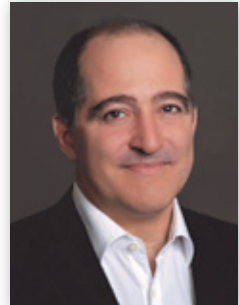

WELCOME NOTE

Mark Fenhalls QC

Chair of the Bar of England and Wales

As the Chair of the Bar of England and Wales for 2022 it gives me great pleasure to welcome you, alongside my colleague Dr Christos Clerides, to this first ever conference of those legal professions that practise the common law in Europe, both inside and outside the EU.

This event builds on four successful bilateral law conferences which the Cyprus Bar Association and the Bar Council of England and Wales have held in Cyprus between 2016 and 2019.

I am very pleased that both organisations have agreed to widen the circle, for the benefit of all those who practise the common law in Europe. Strengthening the bonds between common law practitioners is ever more important in the present context of geopolitical tensions. We, as common law practitioners, are essential in ensuring that both international commerce and the international rule of law are upheld. Coming together in Limassol for this conference will, I am certain, create many new professional and personal relationships which will contribute to this endeavour. There will be a fruitful exchange of legal learning as well as deepening the mutual understanding of the different ways in which we all practise. All of this is invaluable and a particular pleasure at the end of two long years during which we have all suffered so much disruption.

The Bar of England and Wales is an internationally oriented profession. Over 2,000 of our c. 17,000 members have clients located in jurisdictions around the world. This number has doubled in the last 10 years and continues to rise thanks to the enduring and indeed growing popularity of the common law in global commerce and the gold standard we set in international regulatory fields.

Our members attending this conference and all barristers are practising in a consultancy-style which makes them easily accessible experts to assist any law firm in the world with any issues or dispute relating to English law and international law.

My fellow barristers and I are very much looking forward to meeting so many common law practitioner colleagues in Limassol.

Mark Fenhalls QC
Chair of the Bar of England and Wales

His doctoral thesis was on "The relationship between the domestic implementation of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) and the ongoing reforms of the European Court of Human Rights."

Before joining the University of Cyprus, Dr Paraskeva worked as a teaching and research fellow at London Metropolitan University and later as an Assistant Professor at the University of Nicosia. He was called to the Cyprus Bar in 2004 and has often appeared, before the Supreme Court of Cyprus and the European Court of Human Rights in human-rights cases. He has been the President of the Human Rights Committee of the Cyprus Bar Association since 2022. He served as the member for Cyprus of the Council of Europe Committee for the Prevention of Torture (CPT) from 2011 to 2020.

Dr Paraskeva is the author of a number of books, articles and chapters on various human rights issues and has conducted training for judges and lawyers on the ECHR for the Council of Europe, the OSCE and for various NGOs. His areas of research include the European system of protection of human rights, the effective enforcement and implementation of human rights norms, and the right of access to justice and redress.

SESSION 2

Ian Rogers

QC – Monckton Chambers

Ian Rogers QC is a leading silk who has built up an impressive body of work spanning a broad range of practice areas. He has represented private and public parties on 14 occasions in the UK Supreme Court and Privy Council.

He has appeared numerous times in the CJEU and EFTA Court and was the final advocate to appear for the UK in the CJEU before the Brexit implementation period ended in December 2020. Since taking silk in 2014, he has regularly been ranked as one of a handful of “Tier 1” silks in EU law, and a leading silk in administrative and public law, and civil liberties and human rights. Much of his work is of a commercial character, ranging from his particular specialism in “commercial human rights” cases to the full range of general commercial litigation.

There are few areas of law to which he has not turned his hand during the course of a career spanning over 25 years, earning his “reputation as a seasoned advocate in both European and domestic courts”. As a result, one of Ian’s strengths is his capacity to bring a new perspective in cutting edge cases operating at the intersections of areas of law, and also in developing areas of law. He has extensive offshore experience through multiple cases in the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands and Caribbean jurisdictions.

SESSION 7

Frederico Singrajah

Gatehouse Chambers

Frederico has developed a successful practice in international dispute resolution that encompasses commercial litigation and international arbitration. He is a specialist in international trade and investment disputes. He practiced law as a solicitor and in-house lawyer before being called to the bar and that experience leads him to undertake highly complex, high value and high-profile cases.

Frederico is especially sought out for his unique expertise, drafting and advocacy skills in matters involving emerging markets in Latin America, Africa and Asia, by English, international and foreign firms as well as third-party funders and government entities. Many of his instructions have been borne from his unique profile. Frederico's practice spans across a wide spectrum of industry sectors including banking & finance, corporate, M & A, commodities, maritime, aviation, energy, mining, infrastructure and insurance cases.

He is an experienced trial advocate, having advised and acted for states, state entities, public and private companies in English court proceedings. In international arbitration he acts both as counsel and arbitrator and has substantial experience (including under the institutional rules of the LCIA, ICDR, ICC, LMAA, DIAC, CAM-CCBC, AIAC, ACICA and UNCITRAL). As well as his practice he also teaches international arbitration for the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, Gray's Inn and other education bodies and universities.

Frederico is recognised in the International Arbitration Powerlist by Legal 500, Legal 500 UK Bar and Who'sWhoLegal, amongst the most experienced and notable international arbitration practitioners at the English bar. A considerable proportion of his practice consists of acting as an arbitrator and he is included in the lists or panels of arbitrators in many institutions across the world including the CBMA, LCIA, ICC, ACICA, AIAC, KCAB, VIAC, CACM to name a few."
